Items can be displayed indoors but are also great for the outdoor garden! This is a fun way to spend some time with your child or grandchild while making art!

Instructor: Edie Richards

The Summer Youth Art Program will be featuring an end-of-summer art exhibition at the Swope Education Center featuring one work by each child. Please join us at the reception on Saturday, August 7, from 1-3:00 pm to celebrate the success of our summer students.

The Swope Summer Youth Art Program was created to give children and teenagers with an interest in art an opportunity to study with professional artists and instructors. Classes are designed to teach students basic skills and provide them mentorship to fine-tune their abilities. Students will be exposed to artistic theory, learn about artists, and practice varying techniques to create their own original works of art.

INSTRUCTORS

Elizabeth Art works from her home studio where she paints in pastel and watercolor. Her specialties are commissioned pet portraits, animal illustrations and landscape paintings.

Christy Brinkman received her BFA in art education and interdisciplinary studio art with a minor in art history from Indiana State University in 2008. She is currently the artist-in-residence and gallery assistant at the Halcyon Contemporary Art Gallery. She is a practicing artist and has exhibited throughout the Midwest.

Maria Brothers received her BFA at Indiana State University with an emphasis on drawing and digital arts and a double major in art history. This is Maria's eighth year teaching with the Swope Summer Youth Art Program.

Martha Crossen is the owner of River Wools...A Knitting Place on Wabash Avenue in Terre Haute. A lifelong knitter, she teaches various knitting classes at River Wools including classes for children.

Sean Hoisington is a MFA photography student at Indiana State University. He is a photography instructor at Ivy Tech Community College and ISU.

Edward Holloman graduated from the Indiana State University art education program. He assisted in the planning and painting of both the BTW Center and the Boy's and Girl's Club murals and has also conducted art workshops for the Chances Summer Youth program at the BTW Center. He is an active member of the Wabash Valley Art Guild and is a member of the Arts Illiana Board of Directors.

Kace Huber is a multi-media sculptor and puppeteer. Since 1983, she has been carving in stone, creating portraits in clay and designing puppets with cloth and foam. When teaching workshops for the Indianapolis Art Center, Artreach and Community Centers the goal is always the same – fun in exploring art.

Ben Madeska is a practicing artist and writer and has exhibited paintings, photographs, drawings and sculptures throughout the Midwest. He received his BS in Art from the University of Wisconsin - Madison and his MA in Visual and Critical Studies from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Judy Ohmit teaches at the d'Arlier Cultural Center and at her studio in Rockville, Indiana. She has studied at Alfred University, taught as an assistant instructor at Ball State's summer ceramic program Creative Connections at the Lake, and studied with master potter Val Cushing as well as many other well know ceramists.

Edie Richards graduated from Indiana State University with a BFA in 1992. For the last 18 years she has had multiple creative outlets including working as scenic artist for theater and film. Edie has taught visual art to children through programs at the Indianapolis Art Center and the Indiana School for the Blind.

Bailey Reinoehl graduated from Terre Haute North and plans to start John Herron School of Art through IUPUI in fall of 2010. She has worked as an assistant at Beading Paradise and is an experienced lamp worker. She currently works as a culinary assistant at Clabber Girl's Culinary Kitchen.

Julie Rooney is a working video artist and DePauw University graduate, and has exhibited across the United States. She is the director of Low Road Gallery, a non-profit contemporary art gallery in Greencastle, Indiana.

Addie Simpson is a 2007 graduate from Indiana State University with a Bachelor of Science in Visual Arts Education. She is currently employed by the Vigo County School Corporation as an art teacher at Terre Haute North High School and has experience in teaching children with autism.

Stephanie Standish is a working artist and active member of the print community. She received a BFA from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago and an MFA in print media from Cranbrook Academy of Art. She has previously taught children's art classes through the Printmaking Council of New Jersey's Roving Press, Oasis' Summer Camps, and the Girl Scouts of America.
